A. Elaine Ambler former state police captain

SANFORD - A Elaine Ambler, 68, a former Maine State Police captain and father of five daughters, died Saturday at H.D. Goodall Hospital after a lingering chronic illness.

"I always felt very safe when he was around," said Marianne A. Voca, a daughter from Saco, "and I was always impressed with him in his uniform."

Mr. Ambler liked to hunt and "one time actually came home with a deer," his daughter said. Her father saw hunting season more as a time to wander outdoors than to expend bullets.

Mr. Ambler joined the state police in 1964 when he faced losing his job in the textile mills of Sanford and Springvale. The mills were closing for good and Mr. Ambler and his wife, Donna, had just had their first daughter.

His wife had some apprehension about her husband becoming a state trooper, but overall she was relieved that he could find work when so many people were jobless.

During the next 21 years, Mr. Ambler rose from a trooper on the Maine Turnpike to a detective in the criminal investigation bureau to a captain commanding four troops of state police in southern Maine.

PASSAGES

Each day the Press

Herold reflects one ordinary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Southern Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

When her cars for his daughters.

"He was also care. He could spend days looking for a good deal," she said, explaining that he preferred "good old Datsun steel" and bought make-in-America cars for himself.

Mr. Ambler was born in Springvale, a son of William H. and Helen Schofield Ambler. He attended Sanford schools and was a 1944 graduate of Gould Academy in Bethel, a 1946 graduate of the Maine Maritime Academy in Castine and a 1951 graduate of Babson College in Wellesley Hills, Mass.

After his graduation from Maine Maritime, he served 18 months aboard an oil tanker. Following the graduation from Babson College, he served two years with the Navy during the Korean War. He worked for five years for the Maine Turnpike Authority at Exit 3 after he retired from the state police in 1975.

He was a member of the Springvale Lodge #190 AF & AM, and enjoyed following the stock market and reading detective and mystery novels.

Beside his wife of 44 years and daughter Marianne, Mr. Ambler is survived by his daughters Diane A. Rodgers of Springvale, Suzanne A. Finkberg of South Portland, Joanne A. Sullivan of Cape Elizabeth, Anne Ambler-Cole of Sanford and eight grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Island Funeral Home, 61 Main St., Springvale, with Rev. Kenneth D. Keating of Soapleigh officiating. Burial will be in the spring in Riverside Cemetery, Springvale.

Frank Sanborn Ames, 89, of Machias, a director of the E. T. Burrowes Company, and an uncle of John K. Ames, Cape Elizabeth, treasurer of the local firm, died Friday at his home. He was a brother of the late Alfred K. Ames, a candidate for governor in 1932 and 1934.

Mr. Ames was born Aug. 1, 1862, at Machias, son of John K. and Sarah Sanborn Ames. At the turn of the century he was treasurer of the Machias Lumber Company and a corporator of the Machias Savings Bank.

He was the last of a generation of a family that made history in the Washington County lumbering industry. In the span of his lifetime he had seen the beginning and the end of the long lumber industry in Maine.

He was a member of Harwood Lodge, AF&AM, Machias, the Commandery, and Anna Temple Shrine, Bangor. He served the Machias School Committee for several years, was president of the Porter Memorial Library Association and director of the Chapman Chorus. He was a deacon of the Universalist Church and superintendent of the Sunday School. He was a member of the Who-Who Society of lumbermen.

Mr. Ames took a prominent part in the Machias Pageant of 1913 which marked the 150th anniversary of the town. His avocations included music and raising purebred dairy cattle on a farm.

Besides John K. Ames, he leaves a second nephew, Rufus C. Fuller, jr., Providence, and two nieces, Miss Margaret Ames Fuller and Mrs. Albert Claflin, both of Providence, and two cousins, the Misses Susan and Emily Sanborn of Machias.
