Arno N. Day fourth-generation boatbuilder

SEDGWICK — Arno Nevells Day, 81, a lifelong boatbuilder who lectured and taught the art of building wooden boats, died unexpectedly here Thursday.

A fourth-generation boatbuilder, Mr. Day was best known as a designer and builder of wooden lobster boats. He owned his own boatyard and before that he worked at various local yards.

PASSAGES

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

"His life's work, if you will, were lobster boats in the 30- to 35-foot range," said his son, James Day, also a boatbuilder. "They evolved over the years. There was a series of 36-foot lobster boats he built in the early 1970s that, if you asked him, he'd say they were the ones he was most proud of."

Mr. Day's boat designs have been built around the world, and several of his Maine lobster boats were made in Seattle and used as pleasure boats. "They're a little different than they're used to out there, so they seemed to catch on," said his son.

Mr. Day learned his trade as a boy, hanging around his grandfather's boat shop. He went into business with his brother and father in Brooklin, and they also built military patrol boats in Stonington during World War II.

He tried to get into the service during the war, but was given an exclusion because the government felt he was more valuable building boats.

After the war, he found his niche designing and building commercial lobster boats.

"He loved wooden boats," said his son. "That's what he lived for."

Mr. Day retired about 10 years ago, but continued to teach and do design work. He shared his passion for boats with students at Deer Isle-Stonington High School, Woodenboat School, Penobscot Marine Museum, Maine Maritime Museum, Maine Maritime Academy and Eastern Maine Vocational Technical Institute. Many private projects also came under his tutelage. He was a well-known lecturer on the evolution of the Maine lobster boat and freely shared his wealth of knowledge in order to perpetuate his craft.

"He just gave of himself to the young people who were interested in the same thing," said his sister, Mary E. Hawkins.

In May, the Maine Maritime Academy conferred upon him an honorary doctor of science degree.

Mr. Day served 25 years on the Brooklin and SAD 73 school boards, and was also a Brooklin selectman. He was a 50-year member of Brooklin Odd Fellows and Center Harbor Rebekah Lodge, and active in the Masons.

Born in Sedgwick, a son of Frank L. and Myrtle Nevells Day, he graduated as valedictorian of Brooklin High School in 1935. He attended Colby College from 1935-37.

Surviving are his wife of 38 years, Dorothy L. Butler Day; two sons, Stephen E. of Santa Fe, N.M., and James A. of New Brunswick; two daughters, Lois Washburn of Hooksett, N.H., and Mary Colcord of Barrington, N.H.; a brother, Frank L. of Brooklin; a sister, Mary E. Hawkins of Camden; 10 grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

A memorial service will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Brooklin Baptist Church. The Rev. James Lufkin will officiate. Arrangements are by Healey Funeral Home, Blue Hill.

Charles Albert Day

(Communicated)

Charles Albert Day, whose death occurred early Monday morning, at the Memorial Hospital at Damariscotta, was buried Wednesday in the cemetery at North Edgecomb. Funeral services were held in the North Edgecomb Congregational Church, the officiation ministers being the Rev. William K. Houghton, Mr. Day's pastor, and the Rev. Clifford Wesley Collins, nephew of Mr. Day and minister of the Congregational Church at Plainfield, N. J. The pallbearers were Walter T. Greenleaf, Irving L. Davis, Harry O. Carlisle, and Thomas A. Hutchins.

Mr. Day was born Sept. 15, 1867, at Damariscotta, the son of Joseph and Mary J. Day. He spent his boyhood in Damariscotta, attending Lincoln Academy, and started his business career as an apprentice to John L. Clifford in the hardware business. Later he was connected for a number of years with the Emery-Waterhouse Company of Portland, going from there to New York from which center he traveled through the South and West for several years. He retired from business in 1927 and made his home in North Edgecomb, spending the winters in Florida.

In 1895 he married Susie Clifford who survives him. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Sara Day Jones of Damariscotta; a brother, Joseph H. Day of Portland; a nephew, Lawrence Day of Portland; and two nieces, Mrs. Mabel Dougherty and Mrs. Alice Leavitt of Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Day was a Knight Templar and an active member of the Congregational Church of North Edgecomb.

CHARLES E. DAY

LEWISTON — Charles E. Day, 73, of 17 Bristol Road, Lewiston, died suddenly on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at the Central Maine Medical Center.

Born in Roxbury, Mass., on Oct. 16, 1928, he was the son of Israel and Frances Goldberg Day. He moved to Auburn at the age of nine and was educated in local schools, graduating from Edward Little High School in 1945.

He entered the University of Maine, Orono, then left in order to serve in the U.S. Army as a medic in post-war Germany for two years, then went back to the university, graduating in 1949 with a degree in Business Administration.

On June 26, 1949, he was married to the former Sylvia Benson. A well respected businessman and developer, Mr. Day has a long history of achievements, including becoming president and director in 1954 of the Benson & Sullivan Co., a wholesale distributor throughout Maine and northern New Hampshire, founding National Vending Co. in 1955, and in 1959 he founded Value House, with its first catalog showroom in Lewiston.

In a decade he had opened a total of 20 showrooms throughout New England, New York, and New Jersey, and in 1971 he sold the chain to Supermarket General Corp.

In 1974 he moved to Florida, and while living there founded several companies, including International Contracting Co., a jewelry manufacturing plant in Puerto Rico, The Jewelry Factory, a retail jewelry company in Ft. Lauderdale, and The Price Jewelers in Orlando, later adding stores in Virginia, Philadelphia, and the Washington, D.C. area.

In 1983 he became the president of Lewiston Raceways, Inc., closing the track in 1990 and developing the area with his son James and daughter Jayne, and returned to Maine as a permanent resident in 1996. Mr. Day has served as President and Chair of the Board for Central Maine Medical Center, and as President of the Beth Jacob Synagogue.

He also served as President of the Florida Standardbred Breeders and Owners Association; as national treasurer of Harness Horse International, the National Association for Owners and Horsemen and Women; and was inducted into the New England Harness Writers Hall of Fame in 1987, after owning six world champions and many other great racing horses.

A member of the Temple Beth Synagogue, he is survived by his loving wife of 53 years, Sylvia Benson Day of Lewiston; two sons, John and wife Shelley of North Dartmouth, Mass., and James and wife Filomena of Lewiston; a daughter, Jayne and husband Gregory Thornton of Falmouth; two brothers, Melvin S. Day of Washington, D.C., and Donald S. Day of Buffalo, N.Y.; and five grandchildren, Jeff and Julie Day, Nicholas and Elizabeth Thornton, and Jillian Day.

Everett K. Day

Everett K. Day, 79, formerly proprietor of the E. K. Day Company, Rumford dry goods store, and first manager of the electric railroad between Gardiner and Augusta, died Thursday in his home, 9 Everett Avenue, South Portland. In ill health about a year, he was seriously ill about two months.

Mr. Day, an electrician as a young man, superintended the construction of the electric railroad between Gardiner and Augusta in 1885. Leaving Augusta, he went to Rumford, where he conducted his store until 1911 when he moved back to Augusta.

After residing at Augusta a few years he came to South Portland, where he had since made his home. At one time he had charge of a department of the Rines Brothers store here.

Mr. Day was a member of the Baptist Church, the Masons and Strathglass Commandery at Rumford.

His widow, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Day, whom he married 50 years ago, is the only near surviving relative.

Private funeral services will be held at 1.30 p. m. Saturday at 9 Everett Avenue.

DANFORTH — Frank A. Day, 78, died June 30, 1990, at a Houlton hospital. He was born at Houlton, Aug. 16, 1911, the son of James and Ada (Andrews) Day. He attended schools in Danforth and resided there most of his life. He served in the U.S. Army from 1927 to 1931, and in the Civilian Construction Corps. During World War II he served in the Coast Guard Reserves and was employed by the Naval Torpedo Station in Newport, R.I. He was a self-employed electrician, mechanic, plumber and electronic repairman. He was a member of the Danforth Baptist Church, the Baskehegan Masonic Lodge and the American Legion, all of Danforth. Over the years, he had held many municipal offices in Danforth and was an avid fly fisherman. He is survived by his wife, Nadine (White) Day of Danforth; one son, Lester and Pat Day of Danforth; one daughter, Gail and Bruce Crawford of Yardley, Pa.; four grandchildren; one sister, Annie Turner of Newport, R.I.; one nephew, Herschel Turner of Newport, R.I.; several grandnieces and grandnephews. Funeral services will be held 2 p.m. Monday at the Danforth Baptist Church with the Rev. Clayton Crocker officiating. Interment will be in Danforth Cemetery. Masonic services were held Sunday evening at the funeral home. The American Legion Post will be holding graveside services. In lieu of flowers, friends who

MANCHESTER — G. Kenneth Day, 82, of Pond Road, a retired officer, died Saturday at a Togus hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Haverhill, Mass., a son of Lewis and Nora Ford Day.

Mr. Day had managed the A&P Store in Augusta, and then was a district manager for the A&P stores of Maine. After that he owned and operated Day's Market in Augusta for many years. He had also worked for E.E. Taylor Shoe Company, Augusta, for 20 years. Before retiring he worked for the Veterans Administration Medical and Regional Office Center, Togus.

He was a Marine veteran of World War II.

He was a member of the Augusta Lodge AF&AM, Jerusalem Royal Arch Chapter, Trinity Commandry, Kora Temple Shrine, the Rose of Sharon Chapter OES, the Fitzgerald — Cummings Post American Legion, and a member of the Manchester Grange. He was a member and deacon of the Penney Memorial United Baptist Church, a past president of the American Association of Retired Persons, Augusta Chapter, and an honorary member of the Manchester Fire Department.

Surviving are his wife, Glennis Gerard Day of Manchester; a son, Kendall Day of New York City; two brothers, Chellis Day of Springfield, Mass., and Waldo Day of Haverhill, Mass.; two sisters, Eleanor Fisher of Zephyrhills, Fla., and Marguerite Pipes of Wellesley, Mass.; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Penney Memorial United Baptist Church, Grove Street, Augusta. Burial will be in the Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery.

(Special Dispatch)

Wiscasset, Nov. 28. — Horace Wesley Day, 38-year-old Wiscasset hardware store proprietor, was killed in his car while returning from a Thanksgiving Day visit this afternoon by a bullet which apparently came from a hunter's rifle.

The fatal shooting occurred on Route 27 near Race's Filling Station, about a mile west of Wiscasset Village, as Mr. and Mrs. Day and their two-year-old son, Wesley R., were returning from Edgecomb.

Medical Examiner Philip Gregory said Day, who was driving the car, a light pick-up truck, was hit over the left eye and that death was instantaneous.

After the bullet crashed through the car and hit her husband, Mrs. Day turned off the ignition switch and applied the emergency brake. The vehicle grated against a highway fence for about 150 yards before coming to a stop, but neither Mrs. Day nor the child was injured.

The family was returning from a holiday celebration at the home of Mrs. Day's father, Mel Greenleaf, Edgecomb.

Lincoln County Sheriff Herbert L. Pinkham said tonight that several hunters known to have been in the vicinity were being questioned. The bullet which claimed Day's life was found on the floor of his car, Pinkham said and the rifles of several of the hunters are being held for ballistics tests.

The hunters, some residents of Maine and others from out of state, "are all being very cooperative with investigating officials," Pinkham added.

Day, who had been a resident of Wiscasset since 1934, was graduated from Norway High School and Bay Path Institute, Springfield, Mass. He was a member of the Wiscasset Masonic Lodge and a charter member of the Wiscasset Lions Club organized last week.

Surviving, besides his widow and son, is his father, Wesley C. Day, manager of the Wiscasset branch of the Depositors Trust Company.

Lyman Robert Day

Air Force officer, plant engineer

BRISTOL — Lyman Robert Day, 63, of Bristol Mills, a retired Air Force officer, died Wednesday afternoon at his home of cancer.

Born in Fitchburg, Mass., he was a son of Odlin H. and Irene C. Mason Day, and after his public education, attended Ohio State University, Indiana Institute of Technology and finally the Air Force Command and Staff College. He retired from the Air Force after long service with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

From 1974 until 1992, Mr. Day worked as an engineering consultant and construction inspector for a number of companies, including Baystate Medical Center in Springfield, Mass., Miles Health Care Center at Damariscotta and government agencies. His most recent project was with Winton Scott Architects in Portland.

During his 15 years in plant engineering, he was represented in the "Who's Who in Finance and Industry" and was recognized as a certified plant engineer by the American Institute of Plant Engineers.

He was a life member of several organizations, including the National Rifle Association, Sportsman's Alliance of Maine, Retired Officers Association, the American Legion and the VFW. Mr. Day also belonged to the Masons, including the Scottish Rite Bodies and the Kora Temple Shrine, and was an active member of the Water of Life Lutheran Church.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy E. Reinking Day; a daughter, Jennifer E. Day DeBella; two sons, Jonathan O. and Christopher L.; and two granddaughters.

Visiting hours will be 6 to 8 p.m. Saturday at Strong, Funeral Home, Damariscotta. A funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Water of Life Lutheran Church, Route 1, Newcastle, with the Rev. William Luger officiating. Burial will be in Bristol Mills Cemetery.
