AUGUSTUS P. FULLER.

Augustus P. Fuller, president of the Augustus P. Fuller company, varnish and japan manufacturers of 482 Fore street, died at his home on Deering street, about 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Fuller had been confined to his room for about two weeks with an attack of the grip, and the immediate cause of his death is attributed to a clot of blood which forced itself upon the heart.

He was the only son of Adam Fuller, one of Portland's carriage builders, and Sarah (Elliott) Fuller, a native of Windham, and was born in this city October 13, 1819, since which time it has been his constant home. As a lad Mr. Fuller attended the schools of Portland and then entered the store of Mr. Harry Hinckly, where he became thoroughly acquainted with the apothecary business. As a young man he entered the employ of J. L. Kelley & Co., who were engaged in the drug business on the present site of the Falmouth hotel, and in time, became a member of this firm which established itself on Congress street, near the corner of Centre street.

In 1844 the firm devoted itself exclusively to the manufacture of varnish and on the retirement of Mr. Kelley was known as the firm of A. P. Fuller & Co., and finally was incorporated with its place of business on Fore street as the Aug. P. Fuller company.

At the breaking out of the War of the Rebellion, Mr. Fuller was appointed captain and quartermaster by the

ALBION - Carleton P. Fuller, 73, passed away Sunday, June 15, 2003, at Thayer Hospital, after a heroic battle with heart and kidney disease. His loving family was at his bedside. Carleton was born on Feb. 27, 1930, in Albion, the son of Mahlon Bradstreet Fuller and Thelma (Carleton) Fuller. He was better known as 'Dutchie,' a nick-name he acquired as a young boy. 'Dutchie' graduated from Besse High School in Albion in 1949, where he lettered in basketball and baseball. After high school he briefly drove gravel truck for Lee Brothers Construction in Albion and then decided to work full-time with his father on the family dairy and poultry farm. Upon the death of his father in 1970, he continued to run the farm with the help of his wife and children. He also was a Kennebec County Deputy Sheriff for 19 years. He retired from farming in 1983 due to ill health. He married Pearl Rood on April 25, 1950, at the Albion Christian Church. Dutchie was a Mason of Central Lodge No. 45 and a past member of the Albion Grange. He also served on the Board of Directors of United Farmers. He enjoyed going on bus tours with his wife, sports, and is noted for his 'daily walks.' He also enjoyed the Saturday night dances with 'the gang.' Dutchie's outgoing personality and sense of humor was enjoyed and appreciated by everyone who knew him. He took great pride in the accomplishments of his family and was affectionately called 'Papa' by his grandchildren. Survivors include his wife of 53 years; his sons, Stephen Carleton and his partner, Brent Varney of Gorham and David Mahlon and his wife Debbie (Perry) of Albion; his daughter, Bettie Fuller and her partner, Art Granholm of North Vassalboro; three grandchildren, April (Fuller) Paul and her husband Ken of Albion, Christopher Fuller of Albion and Erin (Fuller) Sosa Cortez and her husband Jeremias of Long Island, N.Y.; a brother, Boyd C. Fuller, of Waseca, Minn. At his request, there will be no visiting hours or funeral service. A private graveside service will be held at a later date. Dutchie and his wife were the contributors of land for the creation of the Albion Athletic Ball Fields. He requests that in lieu of flowers, memorial

Former car dealer Ray Fuller

DEERFIELD BEACH, Fla. — Raymond "Ray" Fuller, 81, of Hope and Deerfield Beach, died April 26, 2004, at his home in Deerfield Beach.

He was born Dec. 11, 1922, in Livermore Falls, a son of Bessie (Gilmore) Fuller and Erwin R. Fuller.

He moved to Lewiston as a young man and worked in the automotive business. One of his life's goals was to own his own dealership, the family said. He and his family moved to the Rockland area in 1960 and he established Fuller Cadillac & Olds. There was never a day he did not look forward to opening the door of the dealership to greet and talk with people, the family said.

After retiring in 1979, he and his wife fulfilled another goal, the family said — enjoying the best of both lives, six months in Maine on Alford Lake and six months in Florida.

The family described Mr. Fuller as humble, a man of wisdom, compassion and caring. He enjoyed gardening, with his flowers beds reflecting his green thumb, the family said.

He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

He was involved with many organizations and did much volunteer work. He served as a member and chairman of the SAD 5 school board, where he was both vocal and admired, the family said. He was also a board member of Camden Community Hospital. He was an active Rotarian and past president and received Rotary's Paul Harris Fellow award. He was a member of Midcoast Shrine Club and Kora of Lewiston. He also served on the board of directors of Androscoggin Bank. He was a member of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce and a past president of the Maine Lobster Festival.

He was predeceased by his wife, Doris "Dot" Fuller, in 1988. Survivors include a daughter, Randy Goderre and her fiance, Robert Doughty, of Deerfield Beach; a son, Raymond Fuller and his wife, Mary, of Clarkston, Mich.; a stepsister, Mildred Bannan of Union; four grandchildren, Jason and Travis Goderre of Deerfield Beach and Boynton Beach, Fla., and Katherine and Elizabeth LaMonda of Clarkston; and his companion, Evelyn Lucas.

A memorial service will be held 10 a.m. Thursday (today) at Kraeer-Becker Funeral Home, 217 East Hillsboro Boulevard, Deerfield Beach. A memorial service will be held in the fall in Rockland and will be announced. Memorial donations may be made to Children's Leukemia Fund of Michigan, 29777 Telegraph Road, Suite 1651, Southfield, MI 48034; or Kids in Distress, Memorial for Ray Fuller, 819 NE 26th St., Fort Lauderdale, FL 33305.

ROCKLAND, Sept. 22 (Special)—William Oliver Fuller, 85, dean of Maine newspaper publishers and editors, a former Rockland postmaster, and an author, humorist and lecturer, died Sunday after a long illness.

He retired from active association as editor in chief of the Rockland Courier-Gazette several months ago.

Born in Rockland, he was educated in the city's schools and Kent's Hill Seminary, where he became interested in newspaper work. He was employed in a print shop for some time and at the age of 18 years founded the Rockland Courier. The Rockland Gazette, established in 1846, was merged with the Courier in 1882 and the Free Press, founded in 1855 and named the Tribune in 1891, was merged with the Courier-Gazette in 1897. Mr. Fuller, editor, business manager and advertising solicitor until increased circulation demanded additional officials, remained as editor in chief and president of the publication until his recent retirement.

He served Rockland as city clerk for five years, twice was alderman from Ward 3 and from 1910 to 1914 was postmaster.

He was affiliated with the Sons of the American Revolution and in the first World War was an official in many money-raising campaigns and was a director of the Knox county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mr. Fuller went to Kansas in 1888 and was president of the Linn County Bank at Lacyne. From his experiences there he prepared his one-time famous humorous lecture on Banking in Kansas, How I Found It and How It Left Me. In the 90s he wrote and published a book, What Happened To Wigglesworth. He was long famed as a toastmaster and after-dinner speaker.

He was a member of the Masonic bodies, Knights Templar, an honorary member of the Rockland Rotary Club, member and trustee of the First Baptist Church, trustee of the Rockland Public Library and member of the Rockland Country Club.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Kathleen Stevens Fuller, now president of the Courier-Gazette Publishing Company; two sons, Commander Douglas W. Fuller, USN (retired), and Donald H. Fuller, both of Rockland; a daughter, Mrs. Howard Philbrook of Brookline, Mass.; a brother, Frank W. Fuller and a sister, Mrs. Mary F. Veazie.

Funeral services will be from the home at 45 Beech Street Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. J. Charles MacDonald of Rockland and the Rev. Everett C. Herrick of Newton Center, Mass., officiating. Interment will be in Achorn Cemetery.
