ERNEST W. GLASS

TUSCON, Ariz. — Ernest W. Glass of Tucson, Ariz., known to his friends as Bill, died Friday, October 5, due to complications from cancer, at the age of 70. He was born in Detroit, Mich., to Ernest and Marjory Glass.

After graduation, he learned to fly, and taught lessons where he met his former wife, Pamela. She preceded him in death in 1991. He lived in Manitou Beach, Mich., for many years and worked at General Products in Jackson as a tool-maker. In 1986 he moved to Maine, living in Sabattus and Durham. He worked for Poland Spring Bottling before semi-retiring and working as a mail courier for Northeast Bank.

He met and married Phyllis Bunker, formerly of Bath, Maine in 1992. Together they enjoyed boating and belonged to the Coast Guard Auxiliary Power Squadron. In 1997, they retired and moved to Tucson. During retirement, he enjoyed music and had taken up playing the organ with a group known as the Marketplace Music Group of Tucson.

Bill was a life long member of the Masonic Temple and a member of the Kora Temple for many years.

He is survived by his wife Phyllis of Tucson, a daughter, Peggy Morin, of Portland, Maine, a granddaughter, Sophia, of Portland, and seven stepsons.

Woods Scaler's Body Found At Dead River

Dead River, July 14.—Charles Gleason, 62, of Greenville an employe of the Dead River Lumber Company for 40 years was found dead today along side of a tote road by another woodsman driving a team. The company was cutting wood in the area around Round Pond.

Dr. George L. Pratt of Farmington, medical examiner, said death was due to natural causes. It is believed Gleason died sometime Tuesday night when he was walking out from camp.

Gleason was widely known in Franklin County and the Bangor areas as a veteran scaler for the Dead River concern. He was a member of the Anah Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine of Bangor.

The woodman's body was 11 miles from the Arnold Trail highway. Sheriff Earl R. Hawkens of Farmington, who accompanied the medical examiner, went by his car on the company road five miles and then the investigating party was transported the remainder of the distance in a jeep operated by Game Warden Dwight Lander of Eustis.

An outstanding athlete, he was thrilled to be recognized in 1997 by his induction to the Maine Baseball Hall of Fame. John was a loving, devoted citizen and family man, he was so proud of his 57 year marriage to his beloved wife Doris.

Predeceasing him was his brother Wallace and sister Beatrice. Surviving are his wife, Doris Olive Gould Gleason of Portland; his five children, John F. Gleason Jr. and his wife Cindy of South Portland, David E. Gleason and his wife Cathy of Exeter, N.H., Peter G. Gleason and his wife Susan of Baltimore, Md., Pamela G. Bird of Topsham, and Charles W.
