Harold Hayford, formerly of Belfast, died suddenly of a heart attack on June 19 in Belmont, Mass. He was on active supervisory duty at McLean Hospital, where he had completed forty years of service.

He was born in Belfast in 1886, the son of Loretto and Hattie (Mosher) Hayford and the twin brother of Hugh Hayford. He spent his early years in Belfast, and the Hayford twins are still remembered by many local people as champion basketball players at the high school. From here he went into nursing training at McLean Hospital, and there, with slight interruptions, he served for the rest of his life. He made frequent visits to Belfast and always regarded it as home, and kept his friendships there.

Funeral services were held on June 22, at the Belmont (Mass.) Methodist Church, of which he was a member. They were attended by a host of friends and associates and by surviving relatives, including his brother, Dr. Hugh Hayford, and his nephew, Dr. Hugh Hayford, jr., of Philadelphia; his sister, Mrs. William E. (Hattie) Hunt, of Bridgewater, Mass.; the children of his late brother Ralph, Mrs. Robert (Viola) Glass, of Ossining, N. Y., and Prof. Harrison Hayford, of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. Messages of grief and condolence were received from his brother True C. Hayford, of Royal Oak, Michigan, and his niece Mrs. Walter (Helen Mosher) Fearn, of Berkeley, Calif., who were unable to be present.

Interment, after cremation, will be in Mount Auburn Cemetery Cambridge, Mass., with his late wife Mrs. Sarah Cribb Hayford, who died in 1948.

A memorial window will be installed and dedicated to their memory in the chapel at McLean Hospital, where both received their nursing training and to which both devoted much of their life's work. The memorial will be given by the surviving members of the family and by friends and professional associates at McLean, under the direction of Dr. Franklin Wood, superintendent of the hospital, and the close personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. Hayford.

FREEPORT — Robert I. Hayward, 65, a former shoe stitcher and pressman, of 56 Pownal Road, died Wednesday at a Brunswick hospital after a long illness.

Born here, a son of W. George and Bertha J. Burgess Hayward, he attended local schools and was a 1944 graduate of Freeport High School.

He served in the Army Air Force during World War II, right out of high school. "He was going to school to be a pilot," said his wife, Beryl E. Hayward. "But the war ended, and they discharged him." 5-15-1991

PASSAGES

Each day the Press Herald selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Southern Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

Mr. Hayward worked for 18 years from the 1940s until the early 1960s as a hand stitcher at the E.E. Taylor Shoe Co.

"There were four or five (hand-sewn shoe shops) in town for many years," said his wife. "They all started closing in the 1960s and 1970s and Eastland Shoe is about the only shop left in town."

The Taylor Shoe Co., which specialized in high quality handsewn shoes, including special order golf shoes and other athletic shoes for famous people, closed its Freeport operation in about 1963.

At about that time, Mr. Hayward went to work for the Dingley Press as a pressman. That company print catalogs for L.L. Bean and other stores. He retired in 1971 due to ill health.

"Years ago, he really enjoyed fishing and hunting," said his wife. "But he hadn't done any of them for a long time because of his health. He enjoyed gardening and yardwork, what he could do."

Mr. Hayward was a member of the Freeport Lodge of Masons and the American Legion.

He is survived by his wife of 44 years, Beryl E. Crone Hayward; and a son, Bradley R., both of Freeport; two brothers, Burgess M. of Tampa, Fla., and Howard G. of Vienna, Va.; four sisters, Margaret B. Soule and Mary E. Dyer, both of Freeport, Helen B. Gandy of Winthrop and Elsie R. Byron of Poland Spring; and two grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Lindquist Funeral Home, Yarmouth, with the Rev. Sandy Williams officiating.
