Ralph R. Lange Sr.

ROCKWOOD—Ralph R. Lange Sr., formerly of Bristol and Terryville, Conn. and Rockwood, Maine passed away on Aug. 3, 2002 in Florida.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. on Aug. 29, 1923, he grew up in Bristol and graduated from Bristol Central High School. He was co-captain of the soccer team. He excelled in the trade of tool and die making with the Connecticut Spring Company and Wallace Barnes. He was a life-long member of the Masonic Lodge. While raising his family in Terryville he volunteered his services as an auxiliary state trooper with the Litchfield barracks and with the Terryville Police Department. An avid hunter and fisherman, he embarked on a second career in 1971 on Moosehead Lake. He owned and operated Sundown Cabins and achieved the honor of becoming a Maine Guide. His achievement allowed him the opportunity to share his fishing and hunting skills with others.

He will be forever missed by his wife of 60 years, Rita Cayer Lange and his children, Beverly Ida (Lange) Loiselle of Rockwood; Gail Linda (Lange) Comstock of Sun City Centre, Fla.; Marcia Mae (Lange) Krajewski of Manchester, Conn.; Ralph "Sonny" Richard Lange Jr. of Jacksonville, Fla.; Patricia Louise (Lange) Larabee and her husband Edward of Hollis, Maine; his beloved grandchildren, Jamie (Gray) Telke and her fiancé William Stevens, Larry Gray, James Zarick and his fiancé Janet LaRose, Karen Zarick, Cherie (Thibodeau) Gibson, Thomas Thibodeau, Darin Larabee and his wife Katie, Jay Krajewski, Daniel Krajewski, Carly Lange, Kacey Lange and Kimberly Larabee; his great grandchildren, Eric Telke, Robert Telke, Cheyanna Gray, Jeremy Gray, Devon Gibson and Amber Zarick. Ralph was predeceased by his mother, Ida May Wentworth and his granddaughter, Amy Zarick.

A memorial service will be held in Rockwood on Sept. 30 at the Log Chapel at 10 a.m.

Donald A. Langley

Standish barber for 47 years

STANDISH — Donald A. Langley of Oak Hill Road, the town barber for 47 years, died Monday at a Portland hospital. He was 83.

Mr. Langley inspired many with his wit and his ability to live his life fully despite losing his leg to cancer at 33.

PASSAGES

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

"He had a wonderful attitude, often being called upon to motivate other amputees. He never considered himself handicapped," said his daughter Gail Rich.

Rich said she and her siblings have great memories of their father from when he taught them to dive and to ski. He was also famous, she said, for his gleeful teasing of all of his children and grandchildren.

"Of course, the kids noticed the artificial leg and he told them the alligator in Peter Pan got him. He loved to joke and laugh with everyone. We would laugh so hard we cried," she said. "It is what earned him the nickname of 'Whipper Snapper.'"

Born in Parsonsfield, son of Allyn L. and Leila Smith Langley, he was a graduate of Parsonsfield Seminary. He worked at Leavitt's Plantation in Parsonsfield, at local poultry farms, at the South Portland shipyards during World War II, and in Westbrook's Dana Warp Mill.

A series of problems with his leg led to its amputation in 1948. In the course of his recovery, he sought a new vocation and attended a barber school in Portland. He operated a barber shop in Standish for 47 years before retiring in 1996.

Donald Langley

in Standish for 47 years before retiring in 1996.

In the a newspaper article written about him at the time, he was called an "institution" in the community.

Rich said her father was concerned for the well-being of his friends and family until his dying day.

"People couldn't believe he was in such ill health and he was still concerned about others," Rich said. "The day before he died, my son Michael told him, 'Gramps, we'll take care of Mommy for you,' and with his sense of humor he replied, 'That's why I had 50 of you.'"

Rich said her parents celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary this spring and the family bought them a shiny red Ford Ranger truck.

"When the grandchildren gave him the keys he said it was the best gift he ever had in his life. Then he and Mommy went out of the yard like a couple of honeymooners," Rich said.

Mr. Langley was a member of the Standish Congregational Church, a member and past master of Standish Masonic Lodge, a former Shriner and member of the Order of Eastern Star, and a former member and past president of the Standish Kiwanis Club.

He enjoyed playing cribbage, hunting, fishing and fly-tying, gardening, bird watching and, most of all, his wife's pies.

"Apple, rhubarb, it didn't matter. He loved her cooking," Rich said.

A daughter, Donna Nichols, died previously.

Surviving is his wife of 61 years, Eva M. Thomas Langley; a son, David C. Langley of Lynchburg, Va.; three daughters, Gail L. Rich of Standish, Elaine M. Harris of Naples, Fla., and Susan Langley-Dyer of Randolph; three sisters, Norma Charles of Goodwins Mills; Myrtle Hode of Center Ossipee, N.H., and Mary Loring of Rochester, N.H.; 21 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

liam J. Lanigan, one of Maine's outstanding Republicans and a former member of the State Highway Commission, died at his home here tonight after a long illness.

The former representative to the Legislature helped to create the Maine Forestry District. He was born at Frampton, P. Q., Aug. 28, 1859. He completed his education at McGill University. His life's work was lumbering and he had been employed with Elias Milliken Lumber Company of Augusta until 1896, when he became associated with the Holingsworth and Whitney Company here. He was their land agent and later became manager of woodlands.

Ill health forced him to relinquish his duties with the local paper manufacturers three years ago.

He had been long identified with the log driving and water power interests on the Kennebec river. He was director of the old Ticonic National Bank and the First National Bank of Waterville. Among his other interests were the Lake Parlin Hotel Company and the Elm City Realty Company.

Besides serving two terms on the State Highway Commission and one term in the Legislature of 1905 he was a delegate to two Republican national conventions.

He was a member of the Hallowell Lodge of Masons.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, William J., Jr., and Daniel W. Lanigan.

SOUTH PORTLAND - James G. Lano, 82, an Albanian immigrant whose Lano's Restaurant came to fulfill his vision of the American dream, died Saturday at a Portland hospital after a long illness.

Born in Boboskista, Albania, a son of Gregory and Eleonora Toskko Lano, Mr. Lano came to the United States in 1921 at age 9. For 19 days, Mr. Lano, his mother and two brothers traveled by ship to meet his father who had come to Portland five years earlier.

As a teen-ager, Mr. Lano was forced to take on adult responsibilities, said a daughter, Lorry Quirk of Palm Island, Fla. Mr. Lano's father, who created custom-made shoes and sold ice cream out of a horse-drawn cart, was thrown from his cart and injured his head. He was unable to work again, Mr. Lano and an elder brother took up odd jobs to support the family.

Mr. Lano graduated from Portland High School in 1933. In 1935, he opened a luncheonette at a Portland bus station, and later launched another diner, "Jimmy's," a High Street.

During World War II, Mr. Lano was a master sergeant in the 8th Army Air Force, 453 Bomb Squadron, commanded by Ramsey Potts; his operational officer was Brig. Gen. James Stewart. His daughter said he served as a cook in the Army, enjoyed it, and made it his life's work.

"He loved food and he loved people," his daughter said. "He felt he could always make a buck at it."

For 47 years, Mr. Lano was owner and manager of Lano's Restaurant in South Portland. He retired in 1972.

The business began as a luncheonette, his daughter said, serving coffee and blue-plate specials to hungry workers. But when McDonald's and another burger restaurant opened nearby, Mr. Lano felt he needed to open a more upscale restaurant. The new restaurant came complete with white tablecloths, flaming dishes and a piano bar, she recalled.

During his recent illness, Mr. Lano wrote and dictated his memoirs for the family, from his voyage aboard the ship to Ellis Island to the details of running his restaurants.

His daughter said her father took pride in a life that, like those of many other immigrants, was built from modest beginnings.

"He said this is the only place in the world you could own your own place and be your own landlord," she

A son, Larry, was killed in Vietnam in 1967.

He is survived by his wife of 53 years, Hope Thanas Lano of South Portland; two sons, Theodore R. and Michael P., both of South Portland; two daughters, Mrs. Grant (Lorry) Quirk of Palm Island, Fla., and Mrs. David (Barbara) Wilcox of La Mirada, Calif.; two brothers, Spiro G. of Vernon, Conn., and Andrew G. of Palmouth; a sister, Helen VanGel of South Portland; and six grandchildren.

A funeral Mass will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Portland. Burial will be at Forest City Cemetery in South Portland. Arrangements are by the Hobbs Funeral Home, South Portland.

He was a member of VFW Post 832 in South Portland, the Eastern Star Longfellow Chapter 61 in South Portland, the Masons, Hiram Lodge No. 180 in South Portland, the Scottish Rites and the Kora Temple Shrine in Lewiston. He was also a charter member of the Thornton Heights Lions Club and the Demolay and Rainbow Board.

He was a communicant of Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Portland and the Ahepa, a member of the Woodfords Club, the Maine Restaurant Association and the South Portland Board of Industry; and a former vice chairman of the SMVTI Board of Directors of Culinary Arts. As a South Portland Little League sponsor for over 20 years, he was helpful in organizing John Norton Memorial Field in South Portland.
