WINDHAM - Horace J. McLellan, 65, a longtime electrician, square dance and beano caller, died Monday at a Portland nursing home after a long illness.

Mr. McLellan worked as an electrician for Central Maine Power Co. before working at a South Portland shipyard during World War II.

After the war, he was self-employed as a lumberman in East Windham and as an electrician for many years in the Westbrook, Windham and Gorham area. He later did wiring with the maintenance division of the Portland School Department, retiring in 1970.

After retiring, he was a part-time delivery man for Crane's Flower Shop on Route 302, North Windham.

"It was an ideal job for him, because he knew a lot of people in town and he enjoyed gabbing," said his daughter, Laura J. Rhodes.

Mr. McLellan was a life member of Cumberland Farmers Club; a group which he and his father helped organize. That club helps to put on the Cumberland Fair annually. "He always liked to go to the fair on Saturdays to watch the circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

call scrambles, even if none of his family was in them," said Laura.

He was a square dance caller, often for the Katahdin Mountaineers, a musical group for which his late wife, Thelma Pugsley McLellan, played piano. "Back then, the Lakeland Dance Hall in North Windham and the Red Men's Hall in Ferry Village, South Portland, were the big halls in the area," according to Laura.

Born here, a son of Wesley and Maude Barrows McLellan, he graduated from Windham High School in 1924 and attended Gray's Business College in Portland. He lived for many years on Haskell Road.

He was a charter member of Windham-Gorham Rod and Gun Club, a 50-year member of Highland Lake Grange and a member of the Presumpscot Lodge of Masons.

Mrs. McLellan died in 1969.

Surviving are two sons, Wesley M. of Windham, and Raymond J. of Yarmouth; three daughters, Laura J. Rhodes of Windham, Ethel M. Oddi of Gray, and Grace A. Merry of New Gloucester; 13 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

A daughter, Marion E. McLellan, died in 1944.

A funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Dolby Funeral Chapel, 434 River Road. Burial will be at a later date in Smith Cemetery.
