SOUTH PORTLAND - Frederick Irving Merrill, 73, of 22 Somerset St., a longtime general contractor in southern Maine, died Monday at a Portland hospital.

In 1942, Mr. Merrill founded the construction company that became Fred I. Merrill Inc. At first, he remodeled and repaired houses while working nights at the shipyard in South Portland during World War II. In the late 1940s and early 1950s, he built many new homes.

PASSAGES

Each day the Press Herald selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Southern Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

"We had our office in the house for a long time," said his wife, Loraine. 7-27-1991

The company grew quickly in the 1950s and began winning bids on larger projects such as schools and hospitals. During that time, he incorporated and moved the company to its current location at 187 Sawyer St.

"He built it up from nothing," said his wife. "When he was building, he had more than 100 men working for him."

Frederick I. Merrill

Mr. Merrill was president of Neptune Inc., a lobster gear manufacturing company he started in 1974. He also was a part owner of the Super 8 Motel at Exit 8 in Westbrook and was a former vice president of Atlantis Homes.

Born in Ludlow, Vt., a son of Edwin S. and neive Weeks Merrill, he attended schools there.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church of South Portland, the Masons, the Kora Temple and the Kora Shrine Club of Greater Portland.

Surviving are his wife of 49 years, Loraine Hodge Merrill; a son, Theodore F. of Goffstown, N.H.; a daughter, Elizabeth Merrill of Sunnyvale, Calif.; two sisters, Helen Hall and Della Carey, both of Springfield, Vt.; a brother, Clayton of Annandale, Va.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A graveside service will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Mount Pleasant Cemetery with the Rev. John B.

ing the face of Portland," said Stewart Gannett, who bought the company in 1987.

He never really retired, according to his wife. "He always worked and spent time at the office. He built it from scratch, and it was hard to keep him away from it. Even after he sold it, he worked there as an estimator."

Mr. Merrill was president of
