Weston Albert Merriman auto mechanic, built boat models

FREEMPORT - Weston Albert Merriman, 78, died Sunday at a Brunswick hospital.

He was born here, a son of Albert J. and Abbie Snow Merriman, in the home of his grandparents, Alfred and Hannah Littlejohn Snow.

He was known as "Rusty" in school. He attended Harpswell elementary school and was a member of the first graduating class of the new Brunswick High School in 1939.

During World War II, he served as a sergeant in the Air Air Force, 4100th AAF Base Unit in Reykjavik, Iceland.

His working life was typical of young men of his era. After getting out of the service he was a clammer. He worked for Red Rock Cola Bottling Co., Freeport, and when that closed, learned the lace weaving trade and worked for John Godfrey at Casco Laces. When Godfrey died, he worked as an automobile mechanic at Silver's Texaco on the square in

PASSAGES

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

Freeport.

"That was a vantage point where you could look all the way south down Main Street and all the way north down Main Street," said a daughter, Vicki Lowe of Freeport. "That was at the center of the community."

"I have had many people call me, especially older women who said they felt he was looking out for them," she said.

He did his job well and had high standards, his daughter said. When she was older and had her own car, Mr. Merriman often would not pass her car for inspection, she said. "I had to go somewhere else to get it passed."

He retired in 1980 when Paul Kelley, who operated the station, razed Freeport Texaco and developed the current Polo-Ralph Lauren building. He also worked for the Kelley family at their hardware store in Brunswick.

On July 3, 1946, he married Martha Allen. They lived all of their married life at 10 Royal Ave. She died Jan. 11, 1980. He married Arlene Crone Giggey on March 27, 1982. She died Feb. 15, 1998.

"After that he just did not want to continue," Mrs. Lowe said. "He really cared about her and her family."

He was a former member of the Freeport Fire Department, the first Freeport Harbor Study Commission and the Freeport Masonic Lodge. As a young man, he built small wooden boats and in retirement built boat models. He maintained an interest in his native Harpswell and marine issues.

"My husband and I went on a boat trip last week around Harpswell and other areas. My father was dying and I was thinking about him and how much he would have loved to be a young man on this particular boat, going with us," his daughter said.

Surviving are two daughters, Vicki Lowe of Freeport and Mrs. Willard (Jane) Simmons of North Pole, Alaska; two sisters, Mrs. Edward (Georgia) Hindley of Freeport and Shirley Cooley of Bowdoinham; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Dona (Susan) St. Pierre and Mrs. Paul (Sandra) Randall, both of Pownal; four grandchildren and four stepgrandchildren.

A funeral will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Brackett Funeral Home, Brunswick, with the Rev. Linda Peyton officiating. Burial will be in Grove Cemetery.
