physician-teacher, county health officer

KENNEBUNK - Edward T. "Ned" Newell, 84, a well-known osteopathic physician in Maine and several states for more than 50 years, died Wednesday at his residence on Colonial Drive.

He was born in Springfield, Mass., son of Charles Edward and Edith May Clark Newell, and graduated from Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine in Kirksville, Mo., in 1932.

He was in general practice for a decade before becoming an assistant professor of surgery at Kirksville College. After further training, he came to New England to practice proctology, first in Rutland, Vt., and then here.

In 1965, he was appointed director of medical education at the Osteopathic Hospital of Maine (now Brighton Medical Center). He held that position until 1971, when he accepted a similar position at Metropolitan Osteopathic Hospital until 1973. He then moved to Texas to become dean at the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine and subsequently served as vice president of academic affairs at Texas College.

Dr. Newell also spent one year at Oklahoma College of Osteopathic Medicine as rural clinic supervisor. He then returned to Kirksville College and became director of the Rural Clinic Program. He also assumed a proctologic practice and was named chairman of that section in 1982, a post he held until his retirement.

He was a former member of the Governors Advisory Committee to the Maine Department of Health and Welfare, a hospital inspector for the American Osteopathic Association, a member of the National Rural Primary Care Association, a former health officer of York County and health officer for Kennebunk for several years.

He was a member of York Lodge of Masons, of Murray Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and St. Armand Commandry.

His first wife, Geneva Brown Newell, died in 1987.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred Adams Newell; a son, E. Phillip Newell of Kennebunk; two daughters, P. Jean Flagg of Scarborough and Elizabeth White of Maplewood, Minn.; and a granddaughter.

NEWBURGH -- Lewis E. Newell of Chapman Road, Newburgh died Tuesday, Oct. 31, 2006, at his home in Newburgh. He was born March 11, 1917, in Lexington, the son of Deborah Dyer Newell and Mahlon F. Newell. He married Lucille Doris Robbins in Industry, on July 7, 1940.

He was predeceased by his wife of 62 years, Lucille; his parents; and his stepmother, Nellie Nugent Newell. A grand man who stood taller than the tallest tree in the eyes of family and friends, Lewis was a man who loved family and lived life to its fullest. Loving husband and family man, outdoorsman, fisherman, hunter, handyman, gardener, snowmobiler, civic and community leader and proponent of education are among the many words and phrases that describe him. Following Lucille's death, he added

He was the thirty-third man hired to help construct the East Shipyard in South Portland where Liberty ships were built for the British where he maintained the boilers and portable equipment used to drive piles. He subsequently worked at the West Shipyard where seven Liberty ships were built simultaneously. He constructed and maintained steam, air, oxygen and acetylene distribution lines.

Lewis then joined the Merchant Marines, sailing on the Liberty ships Edward N. Hurley and George S. Bibb, which carried locomotives to Russia, grain to France, and coal to Norway.

His early working career included jobs at Western Maine Sanitarium and Summit Springs Hotel. He joined Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company in 1947, and retired after 35 years. He inspected boilers, pressure vessels and machinery in a territory that included central and northern Maine; in the last ten years he specialized in public utilities, hydro stations, and paper mills.

Special Despatch to Sunday Telegram

Fryeburg, July 20—Benjamin T. Newman, 82, widely known landscape and marine artist, died in a Portland hospital Monday, following surgery. Funeral services with Masonic rites were conducted at the Fryeburg Church of the New Jerusalem Wednesday morning, the Revs. Louis A. Dole, of Bath and Wesley U. Riedel of Fryeburg officiating. Burial was in Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass., where committal services were at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Newman, a native of Bath, studied under Boulanger and Lefebvre at Julien's in Paris, at the National Academy of Design in New York, at the Boston Art Museum and Beaux Arts. He exhibited at the World's Fair in 1892, at the Portland Art Museum, in Boston and his pictures were shown many times in Maine and New Hampshire. He made five trips to France for study and painting, painted in Africa, the middle West and in California. His works represented a wide variety of studies and all possess a clarity and faithfulness of design and color peculiar to Mr. Newman's style.

Aside from his painting, Mr. Newman had many interests, including the study of archaeology, arrow making, study of music and the writing of poetry and songs. A beautiful hymn, I Walk with the Lord, written by Mr. Newman during the last year of his life, was sung by Mrs. Wilfred G. Rice, at his funeral.

He was very active up to his hospitalization about a month ago and was never ill until a few weeks before his death. He maintained an active interest in the social life about him and was much beloved for his gracious friendliness and interest in his friends wherever he met them. Following his sojourn in France, he was much in demand as a lecturer and painted an interesting verbal picture of the life in that country.

He married Miss Caroline B. Gibson, a native of Washington, D. C. and, following some years in France, the couple came to Fryeburg to live in 1888. Mrs. Newman died in 1923. He is survived by two sons, Paul Newman of Chicago and Professor George Newman of State College, Penna., and a sister, Miss Miriam D. Newman of Roxbury, Mass. A son, Arthur, died in 1922 and another son, Max, in 1928. There are nine surviving grandchildren.

Mr. Newman was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of Pythagorean Lodge, No. 11, F. and A. M. of Fryeburg, an active member of the Fryeburg-Lovell Kiwanis Club, an honorary member of the North Windham Kiwanis Club and a member of the Fryeburg Church of the New Jerusalem.
