Boat accident claims life

KOKADJO — The cold water of a Piscataquis County pond claimed the life of a 74-year-old Greenville man here over the weekend when the boat he was fishing from capsized, state game wardens reported.

Carroll A. Robinson Sr., who owns a camp on First Roach Pond about 20 miles north of his Greenville home, died Saturday afternoon, according to Warden Glenn Perkins. He said Robinson suffered hypothermia, in which the body temperature is reduced to the point of death.

Robinson's fishing companion, who swam to shore in an attempt to get help, was treated at a local hospital and released following the accident, Perkins said.

Robinson, formerly of Portland, was born in Bangor, son of Galen and Mathilda Robinson.

He was a 50-year member of the Masons of Dexter.

He was a tool and dye maker, serving his apprenticeship with Faye and Scott Co. of Dexter. Prior to his retirement, he was associated with the American Can Co. and the Kittery Naval Shipyard.

He is survived by a son, Carroll A. Jr. of Hampden; a daughter, Mary Rossi of Westbrook; a brother, Gerald of Los Gatos, Calif.; five grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Hampden Funeral Home, Western Avenue, Hampden, the Rev. Arthur Perkins officiating. Interment will be in Pine Grove Cemetery, Bangor.

Remarks

Charles Henry Robinson, oldest active business man in Portland and probably in Maine, died Sunday evening in his home, 94 Neal Street, on his 93rd birthday anniversary after an illness of three weeks. He served as president of the C. H. Robinson Company, wholesale paper dealers, since he founded the firm in 1884 and went to his office daily before his illness.

Closely linked through ancestry with the early history of Portland and Cape Elizabeth, he was born March 22, 1849, at the latter place, son of Charles and Emily Cobb Robinson. He was a descendant of John Winter, settler of Richmond's Island, and Robert Jordan.

As a lad of 17 years he helped was graduated from Westbrook Seminary in 1872 and founded his company in the building at Commercial and Moulton Streets in the room now used as a shipping room. Except for a few years in the building on the opposite corner of Moulton Street, he always conducted his business in the same place.

His two sons, Charles H., Jr., of this city and Harold R. of Cape Elizabeth, were associated in business with him as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Mr. Robinson was the oldest member of the Portland Lions' Club and was one of the first men to join the Portland Yacht Club, although he had not been active in the club in recent years. He also was a member of Portland Lodge of Masons, St. Alban Commandery, the Portland Club and the Purpoodock Club. At one time he was president of the Portland Wholesale Merchants' Association, was active in the old Bramhall League and formerly was a trustee of the Portland Savings Bank and a director of the Casco Mercantile Trust Company.

A lifelong Republican, he took a very active interest in politics all his life but never held public office.

Besides his sons, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Clara McCulley Robinson, 83; and three grandchildren, Ann Elizabeth, John M. and Timothy Cobb Robinson, all of Cape Elizabeth.

flight the great Portland life and listened to the tales of his grandmother, Emily Cobb, concerning the burning of the city by Mowatt in Revolutionary War days. Mr. Robinson was educated in the schools of Cape Elizabeth,

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon in the old home on the Shore Road, Cape Elizabeth owned by the family since 1620. Interment will be in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.
