WESTBROOK — Albert E. "Smokey" Stover of Waterhouse Court, a religious man who was active in the Masons, died Sept. 13, 2000, after a long illness. He was 74.

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in lasting ways.

He enjoyed helping others, whether it was lending a hand at his church's bean supper or raising money for the Shiners Children's Hospital. He volunteered his time as a Mason and served as master of Deering Lodge. He also was a member of St. Albans Commandery, Knights Templar, and was a 32nd degree member of the Scottish Rite Masons. Mr. Stover was a member of Kora Temple

Shrine and secretary of its Legion of Honor, and a member of the American Legion and a past King Lion of the Hollis Lions Club.

A deeply religious man, Mr. Stover was a member of Westbrook-Warren Congregational Church, where he sang in the choir.

Mr. Stover was born in Portland, a son of Albert C. and Theresa Richards Stover. As a child he began calling himself "Smokey" after a comic strip character with the same last name.

He graduated from Portland High School, where he was active in athletics.

During World War II, he served with the Navy in the South Pacific.

He was employed at the former S.D. Warren Co., and was a member of its 40-year club.

Surviving are his wife, Ivy Stover of Westbrook; two daughters, Candace Stover Toman of Mt. Desert and Cynthia Stover of Hollis; a son, Jeffrey of Orlando, Fla.; a stepson, Stephen Waterhouse of Charleston, S.C.; and four stepgrandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Visiting hours will be 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday at Chase Funeral Home, 350 Main St. A funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Westbrook-Warren Congregational Church, 810 Main St. Burial will be in Brooklawn Cemetery, Portland.

HERMAN D. STOVER

AUGUSTA -- Holding the hands of his loving family, Herman D. Stover, 89, of Granite Hill Estates in Hallowell, passed peacefully at MaineGeneral Medical Center on Tuesday, Jan. 8, 2008. He and his beloved wife, Faith, have been reunited in Heaven.

Herm was born in Portland on Nov. 14, 1918, son of Herman D. Stover Sr. and Leona Johnson Stover. Herm grew up in Mars Hill and South Portland. At the age of 12, he and a friend decided that Mars Hill was more than worthy of being Mars Mountain and, to that end, spent part of their summer vacation lugging the required amount of rocks up the hill and piling them to the necessary height.

In 1936, Herm graduated from South Portland High School, where he participated in the drama club, was voted the wittiest boy in school, sang in the commencement chorus and was president of the art club. He was known among his many friends for his considerable artistic talents, including the creation of his own comic strip, "Penguin Pete"; the self-taught Olde English lettering he did on hundreds of Deering and Portland High School diplomas during the late 1940s; his pen-and-ink drawings and the intricately drawn covers for the nameplate data and trial reports for the Liberty ships built at the New England S.B. Corp. Shipyard in South Portland.

In 1938, he met the love of his life, Faith Clark, and they were married on Sept. 15, 1940. Theirs was a special love and a special bond. He and Faith were sadly parted when she passed away on Feb. 2, 1987. During their marriage, they were seldom apart and enjoyed traveling both on business and for pleasure.

Herm served in the Army Air Corps during World War II and, after attending cryptography training at Chanute Field in Illinois, worked with the team that broke the Japanese code. After leaving the service of his country in 1945, Herm, his wife, Faith, and their daughter, Carole, returned to Portland to pick up their lives.

After college and military service, Herm had a varied and successful career in the business world. Before entering the military, Herm had served as purchasing agent for the shipyard in South Portland and, later, in the same position for the city of Portland and for Baker Refrigeration, then located in Windham.

The family came to Augusta in 1953, when Gov. Burton M. Cross appointed Herm the first business administrator of the Maine Liquor Commission. In 1968, Herm left that post to join the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States in Washington, D.C., first as a district representative and finally retiring from the same company in 1983 as their vice president for administration.

Herm was a true family man, taking an active role in his daughter's education and growing-up years. His daughter, Carole, especially treasures the memories of the Saturday morning trips to the Nash garage on Forest Avenue in Portland, the hours spent playing with electric trains and an Erector set, taking piano lessons together, "helping" him build the house he designed and built on Mayflower Road in Augusta and, in recent years, the many hours they spent enjoying each other's company and playing countless games of cribbage.

After Herm and Faith returned to Augusta in 1984, Herm served a term on the board of directors of MaineGeneral Hospital, where he was also a volunteer for 17 years. During

Glenn Strange

'a natural' as state police officer

HODGDON - Glenn Strange, 46, who became a highly regarded Maine State Police trooper after a 20-year career as a teacher, died suddenly Friday in Houlton.

PASSAGES

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

Named Troop F's Outstanding Officer of the Year in 1995 and 1996 during his first two full years on the job, Mr. Strange was promoted to detective last summer.

"He was a trooper's trooper, a man of great intelligence, maturity and ability," said Lt. Barry Smith, his supervisor. "After 20 years of teaching, he pursued what I think was his lifelong dream to become a police officer and he was a natural."

He was born in Portland, a son of Neal and Ervette Jordan Strange, attended local schools and graduated from Deering High School and the University of Southern Maine. He left Portland and moved to Hodgdon 20 years ago.

Mr. Strange taught at Fryeburg Academy for one year and at Houlton High School for 19 years. He also worked as a U.S. Customs agent.

His deep concern for the welfare of children prompted him to make a dramatic career change in 1994, when he headed to the Maine State Police Training Academy in Waterville.

In an interview last year, Mr. Strange said he switched careers - and took a $12,000 a year pay cut - because he wanted to have a greater impact on children's lives.

At the academy, Mr. Strange was teasingly called "gramps," and when he graduated, he earned the record as the oldest person to complete the training.

Assigned to Troop F, Mr. Strange quickly became a role model and a highly regarded team player. His colleagues in Troop F voted him Outstanding Officer of the Year in 1995, a rare honor for a rookie. He won the honor again in 1996, before being promoted to detective last summer.

"He went from trooper to detective in less than three years and that's almost unheard of," Smith said. "He was a natural who set a fine example. He set a standard that people will press on for."

He was a communicant of St. Mary's Church and a member of the Houlton Lodge of Elks, the Monument Lodge #96 A.F. and A.M. and the National Rifle Association. He also was serving as a selectman for the town of Hodgdon.

The greatest loves of his life were his wife, children and the Maine State Police.

Surviving besides his parents of Raymond are his wife of 26 years, Kathy Kelly Strange, a daughter, Anna Strange, and a son, Aaron, all of Hodgdon; a sister, Gail Thompson of Falmouth; four brothers, Eric of Windham, Keith of Lincoln, Mark of Fryeburg and Joel of Lowell.

Visiting hours will be private. A funeral Mass will be celebrated at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, with the Rev. Thomas M. Murphy officiating. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, South Portland.

A memorial Mass will be celebrated at 2 p.m. Friday at St. Mary's Church, Houlton, with the Rev. Philip Cyr officiating. Arrangements are by the Conroy-Tully Funeral Home, Portland.
