WELLS — Kenneth R. Young Sr. of Wells died Thursday at York Hospital after a long illness. He was 80.

In the 1940s, Mr. Young was a minor league pitcher, but an injury he suffered during World War II cut his promising baseball career short. After the war, Major League Baseball gave him a "gold pass," a lifetime pass to all major and minor league baseball games. Mr. Young was one of 14 veterans to receive the honor.

Mr. Young was a member of the Maine Baseball Hall of Fame.

After he left baseball, he worked as an electrician for several years at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in Kittery. He also was widely known as a lobsterman and commercial fisherman, fishing out of Perkins Cove in Ogunquit.

Kenneth Young

From 1981 to 1996, he was the captain of the the Ugly Anne, a 44-foot passenger fishing boat. He managed the business until his death. His wife, Jeanne Young, said she hopes to continue the business.

Mr. Young, a large man who held strong opinions about town politics, also served as Ogunquit's harbormaster for several years. He also served as an Ogunquit selectman

PASSAGES

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in lasting ways.

during three separate times in his life.

He was born in Ogunquit, a son of Andrew and Maude Johnson Young, attended Ogunquit schools and graduated from Wells High School. He began playing semi-professional baseball at age 14, pitching for town teams in southern Maine and New Hampshire. He earned $1 for every inning pitched.

He later played for a number of minor league teams, including Oklahoma City in the Texas League. He signed with the St. Louis Cardinals organization and was optioned to a AA team in Columbus, Ohio.

In 1943, Mr. Young volunteered for duty in the Navy. While playing for a service team in Virginia, he pitched a one-hit game against a team from Kansas' Fort Riley. In an interview with the Portland Press Herald in 1990, he recalled the name of the player who got the lone hit — Jackie Robinson.

Mr. Young was injured in a hurricane while he was a crew member on a repair ship off the coast of South America. A piece of equipment fell from a shelf and damaged his kidney and hip.

Following the war, he rejoined the Cardinals organization and served as a scout in northern New England until the early 1950s. He was inducted to the Maine Baseball Hall of Fame in 1991.

His son, Kenneth R. Young Jr., said his father was proud of his short-lived baseball career and that he believed he would have pitched in the majors if he hadn't been injured during the war. His wife said he talked a lot about baseball in the old days, and his home on Captain Thomas Road is decorated with old baseball photographs.

"For me, it was a time that is gone," she said. "It was a time when you played baseball more for the love of it than for the money."

Mr. Young was a 50-year member of Ocean Masonic Lodge of Wells, the Scottish Rite Bodies, Maine Consistory, Valley of Portland, Kora Shrine of Lewiston, York County Shrine Club, the Wells-Ogunquit Historical Society, Ogunquit Chamber of Commerce, American Legion of York and Maine Lobstermen's Association.
